

Policy on the Usage of Copyrighted Material

It is the policy of Hastings College to fully respect all rights that exist in any material protected by the copyright laws of the United States while also encouraging usage of the material that furthers the educational mission of the college. To accomplish this, Hastings College intends that all members of the college community - students, faculty, and staff - make use of all relevant licenses, exclusions and exemptions, (i.e. Fair Use) provided for under US copyright laws.

If there is no applicable license, exclusion or exemption which allows use of the material, students, faculty and staff must obtain permission for the anticipated use from the copyright holder.